The New York State Sex Offender Act, effective January 21, 1996, allows the public access to certain information regarding convicted sex offenders whose crimes were committed after the commencement of this law. While the existence of additional offenders is acknowledged, information cannot be released due to a Federal Court injunction currently in effect.

1. Members of the general public may request an appointment to view the Subdirectory of Sexually Violent Predators (Level 3 sex offenders). This subdirectory includes the name, street address, physical description and photo of Level 3 sex offenders throughout New York State. Persons requesting to view this subdirectory must indicate a reason, i.e. identify vulnerable persons within your household. You will be notified of your appointment date via return mail.

2. Residents may request information regarding Level 2 (moderate risk) and Level 3 (high risk) offenders residing within their zip code area. This information will be provided via return mail. Persons requesting this information must indicate a reason for request, i.e. identify vulnerable persons within your household. This information will be sent to you via return mail and is not available in person.

Information on Level 2 offenders includes name, description, photo and zip code of residence. State law prohibits the release of specific street address on Level 2 sex offenders.

Information on Level 3 offenders includes name, description, photo and specific street address.

Additionally, information regarding specific individuals may be requested through the New York State Sex Offender Registry Hotline. The telephone number is 1-900-288-3838. A fee is involved for this information and some specifics on the suspected offender are required.

WARNING: The New York State Sex Offender Registration Act provides for both criminal and civil penalties for persons who misuse information obtained.
